

Chikungunya is a disease transmitted by the bite of Aedes aegypti and Aedes albopictus mosquitoes.

Persons at risk for severe complications due to chikungunya

Children under 1 year old, especially newborns from mothers with chikungunya at the time of delivery.

People with other diseases: high blood pressure, diabetes, heart and kidney disease, obesity, tuberculosis and HIV, among others.

Senior citizens

Pregnant women

People at risk should immediately go to the nearest health facility.

MORE INFO

PAHO

